

Project Title: Lightning Fast Transcripts
Show Name: Ready On Time
Interview Date and Location: January 1, 2016 Philadelphia, PA
Interviewer: Kim Harrison
Interviewee: Hap P. Client

Time codes at the start of every speaker

→ (00:49:17) Kim Harrison: We spent a long time with Hap P. Client discussing how slowly his production transcripts used to get to his desk. It was almost shocking. The difference between Focus Forward Production Transcripts and internally typed transcripts was life-changing. ← Interviewer bolded for easy identification
Hap, talk to us about what you experienced?

(00:50:38) Hap P. Client: Oh, it is just amazing for me! My production assistant no longer spends full days typing. The volume of production transcripts that arrive on time and allow me to do my job faster is astounding. I really never knew it could be this fast and easy.

Interviewer &
interviewee identified

→ (00:50:50) Kim Harrison: It's always been interesting to me, how a seemingly administrative change can actually save cost by saving time (00:51:08). Has this opened up your day and ultimately saved cost?

→ (00:52:05) Hap P. Client: For sure it has. We were laboring under so much production audio. I wasn't sure how we would dig ourselves out. This service was really a lifesaver. (00:52:35)

← Time codes every 30 seconds as our standard